Armand Neukermans's Biography

Dr. Armand Neukermans Armand Neukermans has been an entrepreneur for more than 35 years, and received the 2001 "Silicon Valley Inventor of the Year" award from the Silicon Valley Intellectual Property Law Association (SVIPLA). As chief technology officer of Tencor Instruments (now KLA-Tencor), he steered the company into the area of new metrology instrumentation for the semiconductor industry, which ultimately became industry-standard technology. Neukermans was the founder and chief technology officer of Xros/Nortel, which developed a massive micromachined optical cross-connect, and currently serves on the board of several public and private companies.
