

You are here: Home // Manipulation, Nature, World // Global Warming: An Effect of Weather Manipulation

Global Warming: An Effect of Weather Manipulation

Posted by Europe on Jan 03, 2010 | 2 Comments

listen now

Chinese Weather Rockets

We are being told to reduce our carbon footprints in an attempt to reduce the catastrophic effects of global warming. Will this do any good? Until we know the past and future effects of Global Governmental weather manipulation on our climate we cannot take steps to save our planet.

For the past twenty plus years, the planet has been subject to increasingly unusual weather patterns.

Governments are encouraging companies and individuals to reduce their carbon footprints to tackle "global warming" – caused by modern-day energy expenditure.

Is this the whole truth?

Weather control is not sci-fi, it is a reality, yet very little is publicised about it and the long term effects of weather manipulation are an unknown.

In the knowledge that if a country can control the weather, they can control the world, an Environmental Modification Treaty was signed or ratified by 70 of the world governments in 1977 to prevent hostile weather manipulation.

Actions that would contravene the treaty would be: triggering earthquakes, manipulating ozone levels, alteration of the ionosphere, deforestation, provoking flood or drought, use of herbicides, setting fires, seeding clouds, introduction of invasive species, eradication of species, creation of storms, destruction of crops.

Weather control is the ultimate weapon.

Forget nuclear weaponry, bombs, rockets and guns – weather control technology is the new weapon of mass destruction, the technology is the ultimate state / terrorist weapon and / or deterrent.

To assume that in signing the treaty, Governments would completely disregarded weather control research – the ultimate weapon – would be naïve to say the least.

In June 08, the LA Times reported that in response to criticism of the 2008 Olympic Games being held in Beijing, China, during the rainy season, the Chinese Meteorological Bureau's of weather modification had assured the public that they had set aside, 30 aeroplanes, 4000 rocket launchers, 7000 anti-aircraft guns to modify the weather to prevent rain.

The Chinese weather control would not be in contravention of the treaty, as it would be done without hostile intent, however, it proves that governments have invested in the research and development of weather control techniques.

The above picture is HAARP in Alaska – High frequency Active Aural Research – this is one of at least seven research facilities around the globe.

These facilities were built by the US to monitor the ionosphere, the outer defence of earth's atmosphere.

The ionosphere retains the globe's warmth and protects the planet from the sun's solar flares – variations on any point of the ionosphere can severely affect the weather.

The facility can gather valuable information in respect of the earth's

Chinese Weather rockets at the Olympic Games held in Beijing in 2008

Newsletter Subscribe

You can subscribe by RSS or Email to receive the latest news and breaking stories.

POSTS COMMENTS

Enter your email...

Sign up

We are here to Inform You!

Polls

Do you believe in Global Warming?

No, it's a scam!
Climategate emails prove it!

Yes, it's my new religion.

Vote

View Results

Polls Archive

Recent Comments

mortimer snerd on Obama Orders 1 Million US Troops to Prepare for Civil War

joe josserrand on Obama Orders 1 Million US Troops to Prepare for Civil War

Thomas "The Believer" on Obama Orders 1 Million US Troops to Prepare for Civil War

Links

American Free Press \(AFP\)

American Renaissance

Brussels Journal

Occidental Observer

Romanian National Vanguard News Agency

david ehm on Global Warming: An Effect of Weather Manipulation

Brent on Islam4UK plans march in Wootton Bassett

Random Articles

The End of USA as we know it...

atmosphere.

However, more worryingly, the facilities have an active capability to superheat specific points of the ionosphere, creating holes or incisions, which then allow solar flares to enter the atmosphere – thus significantly affecting weather conditions below.

Under the remit of serious research, the facilities do not contravene the Environmental Modification Treaty, however the technology has the potential to used as a weapon of mass destruction on a global scale.

Details are available on <http://www.haarp.alaska.edu/haarp/ion4.html>

The Government website noted above, confirms that the HAARP facility has been actively tested.

An environmental study was carried out on the Alaskan facility in 1992 which concluded "all of the significant environmental impacts associated with HAARP Alaska can be mitigated to an acceptable level. Some insignificant potential impacts such as loss of habitat, socioeconomic and wildlife impacts may not be mitigated."

Further explanation of the ominous wording highlighted above, the immediate and long term effects of the use of the facility upon the environment / weather patterns and the military potential of the HAARP system are not listed on the website.

The Russian government have also developed Project Woodpecker- Electron Cyclotron Resonance Heating Method.

The system was developed from experiments carried out by Nickola Tesla into electro magnetism and the potential to use the planets natural electromagnetism as an energy source which could be further developed for use as a powerful weapon.

Woodpecker transmitters emit ELF – extreme low frequency electro-magnetic pulses.

The transmitters, positioned in facilities around the globe generate an electro-magnetic grid which circumnavigates the globe using natural high density water vapour trails as conductors (essentially five water vapour rivers which naturally occurring in both the North and South Hemispheres of the Earth's atmosphere).

Disruption in their frequency acts as an early warning system for incoming missiles or aircraft.

Convergence of transmissions on the grid, at any pre-determined point, will disrupt the ionosphere, the release of electromagnetic energy pulses by the transmitters can either be used as a weapon and disrupt weather conditions

The Woodpecker system has the capability to disrupt the path of the Northern Hemispheres Jet Stream Flow – Which can, and may already have had cataclysmic effects upon the world's weather patterns.

It was reported in the Wall Street Journal on 2nd October 1992, that a Russian Company called "Elite Intelligent Technologies" were selling weather control Technology with the slogan "Weather made to Order". They claimed to be able to fine tune the weather over a 200 square mile radius for $200.00 per day.

This article only touches upon some of the technology involved in weather control / manipulation. There are many internet sites where weather manipulation and control is being discussed – Please take a look for yourself.

In conclusion, we cannot and must not trust the propaganda regarding global warming – until we are given the full facts regarding the short and long term effects of planetary weather manipulation/ weaponry.

The past and future consequences of weather manipulation cannot no longer be ignored or brushed off as conspiratorial sci-fi.

Until the public takes the time to research this topic for themselves, spreads awareness, loses the apathy and demands answers from who are elected to govern on our behalf, we, our children, and our planet will continue to hang on a precipice of oblivion.

Source

Also continue to read this related story:

Methods of Artificial Weather Manipulation(AWM) help agriculture, devastate the enemy and control the world economy

Chinese preparing a rocket launcher

Syndicate

Subscribe to this site's RSS feed.

Podcast Subscribe

Archives

Select Month

Internet Anonymity

Become Anonymous online!
Your privacy is important!

9/11 Missing Links

Administration

Log in

Entries RSS

Comments RSS

Cluster Map

Tags

Red Alert! The Second Wave of The Financial Crisis to Hit in 2010

Israel looking for a port to anchor its new German-built subs

Nuke breakthrough. Iran agrees to ship uranium to Russia

Right-Wing NPD Find Ballot-Box Success in Saxony

Translate EU Times

Google Translate

Select Language

Gadgets powered by Google

Alexa Rank

Traffic Rank
eutimes.net

204,486

Jan 01, 2010

Powered by Alexa

Engineers and Space Specialists are working towards something that can change human civilization forever! It is the methods of artificial weather modification.

The process when perfected, can help in agriculture, getting rid of droughts, floods and avoid cyclones and typhoons.

It is also the process by which the enemy can be devastated, artificial floods, cyclones and typhoons created.

It can allow controlling the world economy and agricultural commodity markets.

In ancient religions and legends, weather control, creation of cyclone, rain, flood, drought were nothing new. In the modern age the Scientists and technologists are busy perfecting the weather control sciences. It is shaping up as the most vibrant area of research and development.

Many countries are mastering the science of weather control. As a matter of fact many experts predict that a war game is being played by major powers in the world to demonstrate their capabilities of weather control. Most of these initiatives are classified and shoved off from the public. The only way one can track these initiatives is to look at countries taking actions to shield against weather control experiments.

Recently, scientists and engineers have started unveiling the actual methods of weather control. Some primitive methods like Cloud-top seeding can confuse you and point you to a wrong direction. Cloud-top seeding is usually performed between the temperatures of -5°C and -10°C . The greatest amount of super-cooled liquid water is usually found within this range. This corresponds to an altitude range of 15,000 to 22,000 ft depending upon location. Dropping or ejecting silver iodide flares into the growing cloud turrets dispenses seeding agent. The seeding agent is placed into the super-cooled clouds where nucleation is desired, so the updrafts in these cases are relied upon only to provide a continuing source of condensate. This delivery technique requires less anticipation on the part of those directing the seeding operations and may have a more immediate effect.

The more modern methods involve artificial ionization of earth's atmosphere between 15,000 and 30,000 ft. and above. Manipulating the ionosphere and use of controlled solar-terrestrial interactions can create much larger effects. Scientists are realizing that the earth's weather is controlled by Sun's natural Electromagnetic Radiation reaching the earth. The Sun's Radiations and Ultraviolet Rays have to cross the ionosphere to reach the earth.

There are early indications that the solar radiations and flares are directly responsible for planetary weather changes. And Solar flares and levels of radiations are caused by bombardment of cosmic rays on the Sun from either a distant massive black hole or a star-cluster caused by the collapse of thousands and thousands of stars in a small space.

Computer models obviously focused on the ionosphere, which acts as a filter for the solar radiations to reach the earth. If one can manipulate and control the filter, it becomes a potential source of massive weather modification. That is what the computer simulation models found. Controlling the ionosphere potentially allows weather control. The algorithmic variation of ionosphere can create the magic in a massive scale.

There are many methods of controlling the ionosphere. It is the process of artificially manipulating ion density in the ionosphere. High power transmitter and antenna array operating in the HF(High Frequency) range is one of the methods. There are lots of literature on that in the Internet and declassified scientific research journals.

However, the recent trend is in using super conductors in space satellites to generate intense high intensity electromagnetic flux.

Rating: 0.0/5 (0 votes cast)

Related posts:

1. Hacked UK e-mails reveal Global Warming Fraud!
2. Africa demands $67 billion a year for the so-called Global Warming

- 3. Africans demand up to $100 billions a year for "Global warming compensation"
- 4. Massive storm buries central US in snow just 1 day after Global Warming Conference in Denmark
- 5. John Stossel of ABC Rips Apart Global Warming!

 Print This Post

Tags: Artificial Weather Manipulation, AWM, China, Elite Intelligent Technologies, Environmental Modification Treaty, Global Governmental weather manipulation, Global Warming, HAARP, HAARP in Alaska, High frequency Active Aural Research, Nickola Tesla, North and South Hemispheres, Northern Hemispheres Jet Stream Flow, Project Woodpecker- Electron Cyclotron Resonance Heating Method, Rain Prevention, Sci-Fi, Snow Prevention, Weather Control, Weather Manipulation, Weather Manipulation Device, Weather Manipulation Machine, Weather Manipulation Technology

2 Responses to " Global Warming: An Effect of Weather Manipulation "

Jack Mildam says:
03/01/2010 at 5:08 pm

Repeat 100 times: weather is not climate.

<http://www.google.com/search?q=weather+is+not+climate>

Now you know that, you won't be writing any more incredibly ignorant articles, eh? 😊

Rating: +1 (from 3 votes)

Reply

david ehm says:
04/01/2010 at 7:04 am

if the previous commenter were not ignorant he/she would know that the material in the article has been confirmed through patents available of material that is being sprayed on us, delivery systems, there is even a film on the haarp system that is narrated by martin sheen called "holes in heaven" an air force paper called "owning the weather by 2025" is horrifying reading. do your homework!!

Rating: 0 (from 0 votes)

Reply

Leave a Reply

Name (Required)

Email (Required) (Will not be published)

Website (Optional)

         more »

Notify me of followup comments via e-mail