Sierra Institute for Community and Environment

The Sierra Institute for Community and Environment promotes healthy and sustainable forests and watersheds by investing in the well-being of rural communities and strengthening their participation in natural resource decisions and programs.

Center of Forestry

Our Center of Forestry runs educational tours about natural resources and local communities in the Sierra Nevada ecosystem.

Lake Almanor Watershed

We work with the Lake Almanor Watershed Advisory Committee to to address water quality, land use, and critical habitat issues in the Lake Almanor Basin.

Community and Environment

From community health for Plumas County to a natural resources program at Greenville High School, the Sierra Institute works to improve the well-being of rural communities and environments.

Our New Site

Welcome to the new Sierra Institute Web site. We've redesigned our Web site to make it easier for visitors to find information quickly. You'll find a search engine in the upper right of every page, and a link to a site map in the footer of every page. In addition, we've updated our Projects section to present the latest information about our work helping rural communities and the environment.
