SAN DIEGO—Environmental organizations have added the Navy to their lawsuit against the federal government that seeks more measures to protect whales and other marine mammals from the military’s sonar use.

Earthjustice and other organizations announced the addition Wednesday to their lawsuit filed in December against the National Marine Fisheries Service. The lawsuit demands that the service force the Navy to seek alternatives to its five-year plan that will intensify off the California and Hawaii coasts.

Navy officials estimate its activities would have a negligible impact on marine mammal populations.

Environmentalists dispute that. They favor off-limits zones to biologically sensitive areas and want the Navy to avoid training in certain spots seasonally when they are rich in marine life.
New Rule in California: If you pay for car insurance you better read this...

Women have been urged to cease posting these kinds of photos on social media.

11 little-known Star Wars facts that you didn't know about

Cumbersome CPAP machines or risky surgery are not the only answers to solving sleep apnea.

Angwin Residents Stirred Up
[ Feb 2014] New controversial website exposes Angwin’s Arrest Records for anyone with a computer to view. Read More »

Recommended for You
► Here’s the Super Bowl, as seen from the pregame...
► Fire displaces eight, sends two to hospital...
► Art and dance: Indoors at IceFest
► Tractor trailer driver dies in fatal accident...
► This man claims he survived 13 months adrift in...
► Chambersburg native reported missing in South...

3 Foods To Burn Fat - These 3 Simple Foods Help Burn Fat Like A Furnace.
PerfectLiving.com Learn Them Now.

Attorney Cristin Lowe - Dedicated solely to Divorce and Family Law.
Cristinlowelaw.com Satisfaction is #1
This man claims he survived 13 months adrift in the Pacific.

Super Bowl blowout was the most watched TV event in U.S. history.

Why does Hermione have to choose Harry or Ron?

These newlyweds love each other — and bacon.

Look at this 380-foot tower get demolished in Germany.

Watch New York City's mayor drop a groundhog.

After a long wait, Seattle fans celebrate Seahawks.

Watch the Top 5 Super Bowl commercials.

Environmentalists sue Navy over sonar use - Redwood Times